THREE OUTSTANDING GALLERY INSTALLATIONS AT NADA MIAMI 2021

INTRIGUING HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE 19TH EDITION OF THE ACCLAIMED ART FAIR

David Graver 6 December 2021

Within the walls of Miami’s Ice Palace Studios, the non-profit arts organization New Art Dealers Alliance hosted the 19th edition of their acclaimed art fair, NADA Miami 2021, this year. Every Miami Art Week, NADA acts as a must-visit destination for inspiration and discovery—pairing curious audiences with thought-provoking art. This year proved no different. Though highlights were plentiful, the artwork we saw at the three galleries below continues to intrigue, perplex and delight—long after the fair has come to its conclusion.

Xenia Bond, Ryan Cullen and Masamitsu Shigeta at Situations

An electric dialogue passed between the works presented by Situations, another NYC-based gallery. From the enchanting sensibilities of the “anti-pastoral” painter Masamitsu Shigeta to the salvaged, contemplative assemblages of familiar items by Xenia Bond and the psychological and conceptual works by Ryan Cullen, a discourse between the ordinary and extraordinary took place.
